

Iva Wharton

Senior Journalist attached to Capitol News. I joined the media in 2005 following a three month internship at Prime News through the University of Guyana.

Career

Before entering the field of journalism, I taught Information Technology and Electronic Document Preparation and Management (EDPM) which I continued alongside journalism for many years.

In the field of journalism I have had the opportunity of reporting on many from crime, politics, business and sports. I was covered sport new for both television and print. In 2010 I was awarded the none-print sports journalist of the year award for 2009.

Presently I am the producer of a business magazine, Business Inspiregy and the host of radio programme, Business Insight which is aired on 104.1 Lite FM.
